

10
PLACES
TO GO

to find Jacarandas Blooming in Brisbane

- 1 Brisbane's City Botanic Gardens
Brisbane City Botanic Gardens is the site of Australia's first grown Jacaranda tree (planted in 1864).
- 2 The University of Queensland, St Lucia
One of Brisbane's most gorgeous locations, UQ has a vast array of Jacarandas, with blooms traditionally signalling the beginning of the exam season.
- 3 New Farm Park, New Farm
New Farm Park has arguably the best floral display of Jacaranda trees in Brisbane.
- 4 Old Petrie Town, Kurwongbah
Outside McKenzies Store is covered in purple during Jacaranda blooming season. Make the most of your visit and head to their Sunday Markets, on every Sunday from 8am -2pm.
- 5 Jacaranda Park, Yeronga
Quite an ordinary park for most of the year, Jacaranda Park at Yeronga bursts into a vibrant and wild display of mauve come Jacaranda season.
- 6 Mount Coot-tha Botanic Gardens, Toowong
The Mount Coot-tha Botanic Gardens boast an outstanding array of Jacaranda trees just brimming with colour and waiting to be photographed in all their glory
- 7 Evan Marginson Park, Goodna
Goodna's Jacaranda Festival is held annually at Evan Marginson Park; celebrating the beauty of the Jacaranda.
- 8 Roma Street Parkland Brisbane - White Jacaranda Trees
We all love and know the beauty of the purple jacaranda, but did you know that Jacarandas can also be white?!
- 9 The Albany creek Police Station, Albany creek
As a point of interest this local police station sits behind the most amazing group of Jacarandas that literally overwhelm the space with the magnificent purple flowers
- 10 Captain Burke Park on the Brisbane River, Kangaroo Point
The beautiful blooming Jacarandas can be seen all along the pathways that line the river leading through to this park and in many other places alongside the Brisbane River.